

Children's Torah Portion

כִּי תֵצֵא

Ki Teitzei

(when you go out)

If you see an animal that belongs to another person that is running loose you need to return it to them, and if you do not know who it belongs to, you need to keep it safe until he asks you about it. You are supposed to do the same thing with anything else that belongs to others. If you see his animal falling on the road, you need to help it up.

You cannot wear boys' clothes if you are a girl or girls' clothes if you are a boy.

Houses used to have flat roofs that they would go on often; so when they built new homes they had to put fences around the roof so that no one would fall off.

YHWH commands us to wear tzitzit. Tzitzit are to be twisted, with blue thread. You are supposed to wear four, one on each corner of your clothes, to remind you of His commandments.

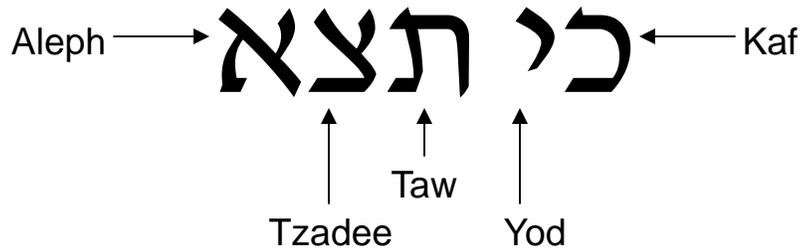

When you have people working for you, you are supposed to pay them every day before sunset, so that they can afford to buy food.

You try writing it!

Cut out the cards, mix them up, then try to put them in the proper order without looking at this page.

What's missing on the roof of this house?
Draw it.

If you want to you can draw a picture for the next torah portion and send it to:
chayili@onetorahforall.org.

The pictures will appear in the children's parsha for that week. Please try to send them on the first, second, or third days of the week.

The next parsha will be:
Ki Tavo
Devarim (Deuteronomy) 26:1-29:8
