Moshe told the food laws to Yisrael again. (YHWH gave us these laws to protect us from dangerous diseases and illnesses.) Animals that have split hooves and chew their cuds we can eat; but any animals that have split hooves, but do not chew their cuds; or do not have split hooves but chew their cuds, we cannot eat.

Animals, such as the camel or rabbit chew their cud, but do not have split hooves. We cannot eat these. The pig has split hooves, but does not chew its cud, so we cannot eat it, either.

YHWH told the people that if a Hebrew slave was sold to them, they could keep him for six years. On the seventh year, they were to be released, but if they liked working for you they could stay. You had to pierce their ears to symbolize that they would work for you forever.

Moshe reminded the people of three major festivals: Pesach, Shavuot, and Sukkot. We are supposed to keep them every year.
You try writing it!

Cut out the cards, mix them up, then try to put them in the proper order without looking at this page.
If you want to you can draw a picture for the next torah portion and send it to: chayili@onetorahforall.org.

The pictures will appear in the children’s parsha for that week. Please try to send them on the first, Second, or third days of the week.

The next parsha will be: Shophtim
