Moshe reminded the people of the time when YHWH gave them the ten commandments. “You shall not worship pagan deities, do not make idols, you shall not use the name of YHWH your Elohim in vain, keep the Shabbat and sanctify it, six days shall you work, and rest on the seventh day, honor your father and your mother, do not kill, do not commit adultery, do not steal, you shall not bear false witness against your brother, and do not covet your neighbor’s wife or desire anything of his.”

He also reminded them of the fire on the mountain and how scared they got, which resulted in them asking Moshe to tell them what YHWH said so that they would not have to listen to YHWH personally.
